

Mrs. O

Written by Meagan O'Donnell
Monday, 26 October 2009 00:00

Earlier today, Women's Wear Daily's Twitter feed clued me into a rather interesting blog and book to be based on that blog.

The blog, "Mrs. O," chronicles the fashions of First Lady Michelle Obama. The blog creator and a few other writers post several times a week to keep readers updated on what Mrs. O has been wearing. And let me tell you, she always looks fabulous.

The first post was made in September of last year soon after Obama appeared at the Democratic National Convention dressed in gorgeous clothes.

According to Women's Wear Daily , a book based on the blog by blog creator Mary Tomer will be published. It is called, "Mrs. O: The Face of Fashion Democracy."

Check it out.